What is She?

There is where she rested. She rested on the bed. She tested where the soft bits were and sat down. She jumped up on top and landed on the quilt. She sat and rested and licked her legs. She had hunted for some rats to snack on, but in the end she had a rest on the bed. Can you tell what she was?

One hot day, a boat set sail on the lake while a big pet sale was on at the shops. The maid, who made yum cakes, told us to grab a dog that had a little tail. The maid had seen a letter in the mail that said this would be the best pet sale. She told us to get the little male dog if we could. The little male dog had a plain coat with brown stripes. She gave us some cash to take to the sale but told us not to waste it if we could not see the pet we wanted. When we got to the sale a plane went over with a flag that said, "Best Pet Sale Ever!"

Nutmeg is a pony who lives at the stables. She likes to be tickled and handled by the stable-hand. The door to her stable is sometimes left open, and Nutmeg runs to the track. She canters along and pretends that she is in a race. The men mumble that the silly pony escaped again! They run to grab her, and some stumble and tumble to the floor. Nutmeg giggles to herself as she crosses the finish line!

It's a good reminder that we are all different and should be proud of who we are.

Today, I went on foot to visit the brook with my son. After school, I would hotfoot it to the brook to sit in the crook of a tree and read a good book, or I would go fishing in the water to hook a fish in the lagoon. Once, I kicked my footy into the stream and had to get it with a plank of wood. I made a little wooden boat as I waited for my footy to dry. I put it into the brook and stood to see it drift away. It was pretty good! I loved my childhood.
